THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL VISITS RIDLEY

The Governor-General, His Excellency Roland Michener and Mrs. Michener with the Headmaster during their visit to the School on 7 October.

On a somewhat unsettled October day, Tuesday the seventh, Ridley was favoured by an informal visit by their Excellencies, The Governor General and Mrs. Michener. Although only on the grounds for a few hours, Their Excellencies left a deep and highly favourable impression upon the entire school.

At precisely 11:30 the Vice-Regal party arrived at the gates of the School where Their Excellencies alighted from the car and proceeded on foot along the lines of Lower School boys assembled on either side of the driveway. As Their Excellencies left their limousine in the circle in front of School House they were greeted by the Headmaster and Mr. B. B. Osler, President of the Board of Governors. They then proceeded across the circle where Lt. Col. Iggulden was presented before His Excellency mounted the podium to receive the Royal Salute.

He then inspected the Guard of Honour — and how impressive the boys looked in their new uniforms and how well the band played for such an early parade — flowers were presented to Her Excellency by David McDonald of Sao Paulo, the youngest boy at Ridley, and a brief tour of the Upper School began. Mrs. Guest, acting as official hostess for the day, Mr. Guest, the Aides-de-Camp, the Headmaster and Mr. Osler led Their Excellencies to the Chapel where a choir rehearsal was in progress, to the Matthews Library, through the main corridor of School House and on to the Headmaster's Residence. Here, at a brief reception, members of the Board of Governors and their wives were presented to Their Excellencies.

On their way into luncheon in the Great Hall, Their Excellencies met the School Prefects who joined them and the Board members at the Head Table for a fine luncheon. His Excellency spoke briefly to the School at the conclusion of the meal on the role of the Governor-General in contemporary Canada and granted the boys a holiday in honour of his visit. The presentation to the School of a photograph of Their Excellencies followed; in turn the Headmaster presented His Excellency with a Headmaster's tie and a History of the School.

During the serving of coffee in the residence of Mr. Shipley, the Dean of Residence, members of the Upper School teaching staff were presented to Their Excellencies. The Governor General and Mrs. Michener then returned to the Headmaster's Residence for a brief rest before leaving the school to pay an official visit to City Hall in St. Catharines. As the Vice-Regal car left the grounds, intermittent stops were made so that His Excellency could view the various football and soccer teams at practice; the School had returned to its regular routine.

The visit of Their Excellencies was planned as an informal one and the mood was relaxed as the School greeted the distinguished visitors. It is hoped that on some more formal occasion, such as Prize Day, Ridley may again have the privilege of greeting Their Excellencies at the School.

Prospective Ridleians

Dear O.R. ("Dear Old Boy" sounds like a dated Britishism):

Have you seen, in your neighbourhood or in your friend's home, a compact bundle of energy and dishevelment, namely a boy, reminiscent of the types that you admired when you entered Ridley years, decades or eons ago? Does your son have a friend who would enjoy the challenge of Ridley?

You have no doubt heard, from time to time, that there are lots of applications for Ridley and this is true, but the supply of top-rate applicants is, by no means, inexhaustible.

Ridley's strength lies in the boys within it and the leadership, enterprise, and spirit that we like to think of as typical of Ridley is not solely the product of tradition and a dedicated staff. There must be a steady flow of well-motivated raw material if the standards are to be maintained.

We do not expect all new entrants to be free of blemish. As a matter of fact, some of our most rewarding efforts have been with less-than-perfect specimens (you may have been one yourself). However, for every so-called "difficult" boy who applies, there should be ten of the eager, ambitious, energetic type that you were when you came to Ridley. A number of our best new contacts have come from O.B.'s, and every time I interview one, I realize what a potent force in public relations our hundreds of Old Boys can be. There is no one better suited to judge the material we require or, in fact, to promote the school than an Old Boy or recent parent.

So — O.R., don't wait 'til you see that young chap who needs "straightening up" or "a spot of discipline". Keep an eye out for the youngsters who will benefit from a challenge; who will give to as well as gain from Ridley.

And one, second-to-last thought — I know you, O.R., may have entered Ridley after public school or early in high school; but it is my biased belief that the boy who enters Ridley before Grade IX gains the most. As a matter of fact, if statistics of leadership in the Upper School are to be believed, the entrant below Grade IX has the greatest chance of success.

And now the last thought — don't forget our Scholarship Examinations are open to boys entering Grades VII to X (see a note elsewhere in Tiger). Last year, despite a fair number of entries, there were not enough new candidates good enough to win all the Scholarships available. February 27th is the day. Pass around the good word. We have bursaries, too, for all forms.

All the best.

Target: $115,000

Your Foundation Fund Reports

As of early December, the Funds stand at $75,000. This is almost half way through our fiscal year. Although we are well over halfway to our target, the toughest sledding is ahead of us. The last $40,000 is going to be harder to obtain than the first $75,000.

We need your help if you have not contributed. Everyone who reads Tiger will realize the School needs your contribution whether it is small or large. If you have not sent in your donation for this year PLEASE DO IT TODAY.

Very successful Telethons have been held this Fall in Toronto, London/Sarnia, Hamilton District and New York City branches. All their totals are well up over last year so if these results are duplicated in our Winter Telethons in the Ottawa, Montreal, Niagara Peninsula, Grand Valley Buffalo, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver branches we should meet our objective.

If you are asked to help with any of these Telethons agree to spend a pleasant evening aiding Ridley. If you cannot, then assist the School with your contribution to the Foundation Fund in Canada or the Scholarship Fund in the United States.

Edmund Hallcroft Miller Burn

Ed Burn was born and educated in England. His university career was terminated by service in the Second World War in the R.A.F. in which, as a Flight Lieutenant, he was a navigator-gunner in night fighters. At the end of the War, he married Constance Challoner, a Canadian, and the young couple moved to Canada. Ed obtained a position on the staff of St. John's-Ravenscourt School in Winnipeg and in 1951, the Burns came to Ridley to stay. It was Ridley that became home and family to them and to their two children, Patricia and Peter.

Ed taught Geography in the Lower School and coached games there as well as cricket in the Upper School. In 1961 he was appointed Housemaster of East House (now Mandeville House) and Assistant to the Headmaster, and in 1967 he was named Assistant Headmaster of the Lower School.

Ed had two consuming interests — Ridley and cricket. He was, to name some of his official positions, President of the St. Catharines Cricket Club, President of the Hamilton and District Cricket League, Captain of the All Ontario XI and a member of the Board of the Ontario Cricket Association.

On October 22nd, this career of service and dedication was abruptly and cruelly terminated by an automobile accident which took the lives of both Mr. and Mrs. Burn. The stark announcement of this loss was so shocking to many of us that for days, we could not shake off a feeling of complete unreality. Even today, as I struggle with this, I half expect to hear Ed's step and cheerful hum as he passes through the front hall; those passages I so often interrupted by hailing him for a word, a chat or a discussion on every manner of thing connected with Ridley. Ed was the perfect confidant and sounding board, sometimes helpfully critical, of thoughts and views. We both took a special interest in the practical developments of the school and he put his dexterity and imagination to use in sketching and devising ingenious plans for improving or expanding our plant and equipment.

I do not need to tell Old Boys who knew him of his capabilities, and I imagine that even those of you who have only known him outside the Lower School must have sensed his gifts. Ed Burn's discipline was seemingly stern and, one would have thought, unbending; and, yet, he rarely had to resort to punishment, and his classes produced not only hard work but frequent bursts of cheerful laughter. In one of several unsolicited contributions for Acta a young author wrote the following revealing lines:

Today I think of one all have lost
Always helping, always careful,
Always smiling, always fair

It was not, of course, only in the classroom or on duty that Ed Burn showed his fitness for his career. Ed was a superb athlete. To see him play soccer, which he did about twice a year, was a delight; and, of course, his prowess as a bowler, batsman and strategist on the cricket field was known all over Ontario and, in fact, in many other centres of Canada, and Bermuda as well. His knowledge and enthusiasm for sport and sportsmanship made him an ideal coach and, despite the fact that he never played the game, he was remarkably successful in producing Canadian football teams. Each year I would ask him, early in the fall, of his prospects. The answer would include a roll of the eyes to heaven and comments in which words such as "clods" were not uncommon. But, each year, there would develop a team which, while not always a winner, was able to acquit itself manfully up to the limit of its ability and up to the last whistle of the last game. In between coaching football and cricket, he managed to find time to coach boxing and squash racquets and even hockey. Whatever the sport, those who played for Ed Burn learned to give of their best and, above all, to control their tempers and, in a modern phrase, to keep their cool.

Such a man could not help but be an outstanding schoolmaster. Physically strong and vigorous and with a warm, outgoing personality, he was a man of uncompromising integrity and loyalty. Small wonder, then, our sense of loss and shock. Again, I will call on a boy's thoughts:

Then one day we turned around and he was gone.
Why did he leave?

Constance Gertrude Burn

Connie Burn was as much a part of Ridley as her husband. She contributed to the school in many ways and was devoted to Ridley and to the boys. Always present on the sidelines during Football, Hockey and Cricket games, she took a keen interest in every aspect of school life.

For as many years as she was at Ridley, Connie was a member of the Chapel Guild. She took a special interest in the costumes for both Upper and Lower School Plays. The 1964 production of Noye's Fludde, outstanding for its costumes, was evidence of her creative and organizational talent.

Connie was also very active outside Ridley with a number of organizations in St. Catharines. She was a Past President and Social Service Secretary of the Christ Church Branch of the Anglican Church Women, a former leader of the 30th (St. Catharines) Cub Pack, a member of the Women's Auxiliary of the St. Catharines General Hospital and an active member of the IODE.

Many will remember Connie for the magnificent work that she did for the West St. Catharines Inter-Faith Association.

Donation of toys, clothing and money were constantly arriving at the Burn household and being redistributed to poor and needy families throughout the Niagara Peninsula.

Her cheerful disposition helped to put things into perspective for all of us. Always ready to overlook faults in others, she found praise for their strong points and was a constant source of strength for boys and staff alike. The school has lost a real friend and ambassador.

Old Boys' Association

Annual Meeting

The Annual Meeting of the Ridley College Old Boys' Association was held on September 29, 1969 and at that time a new Constitution was adopted.

The main changes in the Constitution are as follows:

- (a) The name of our Association shall now be "The Ridley College Association".
- (b) Members of the Association shall be
 - (1) All Old Boys, Parents of boys (past and present), all members of each branch of the Women's Guild, all members of the Board of Governors and all masters past and present of the School.
 - (2) Any friend (corporation or individual) of the School not qualifying under clause (1) who expresses a desire to become a member.
 - (3) Each honorary life member of the previous Old Boys' Association, the Headmaster of Ridley College, and such other persons be they corporate or individual as may from time to time be designated honorary members of the Association by the Executive Committee.
- (c) The Executive Committee of the Association shall have the right to nominate members of the Association for membership on the Board of Governors of the School to the extent of fifty per cent of the vacancies on the Board for any one year.

I therefore, welcome all of you who were not previously members of the Ridley College Old Boys' Association to the Ridley College Association with the wish that we shall all be working hard for the benefit of the School and its students in the years to come.

We all know full well the tremendous contribution the Women's Guild has made on behalf of the School for many years and in no way will their operation be impeded. The rest of us in the Association welcome the chance now to work with them and will value their experience in producing the end result of a better School, which is the aim of all concerned. It will also be of additional advantage to the School having the male Parents and Staff members exercising their interest in the School from within our Association.

The Association shall continue to be the vehicle whereby Old Boys of the School can keep in touch with each other as well as being informed of all the School's activities which have been the primary functions of the Association since its inception.

In conclusion, I should like to thank all those who have worked for some time on the revision of this Constitution as well as the opinions expressed, both pro and con, by many who were concerned and interested in the situation and sat through many Committee meetings.

I know you will all join with me in hoping that with our new strength we can continue to assist the School in any and every way as we have attempted to do in the past.

B. B. CRONYN, President,
Ridley College Association.

A Summer in Antigua

Each summer the Anglican Church of Canada sponsors and co-ordinates the "Overseas Work Tours". Last summer sixteen young Canadians were selected to work outside of Canada for the summer. Six people, including myself, went to Antigua and others went to British Honduras. There were three or four times as many West Indians working in Canada, each having a Canadian counter-part. Each person who was part of the "Overseas Work Tour" was sponsored. The contributions came from a wide variety of sources; my expenses were paid for by the Ridley College Chapel Fund and The Anglican Church of Canada.

About the first of July there was an Orientation program in Aurora for all the people involved, whether they were staying in Canada, coming up from the West Indies, or going overseas.

The three days that we spent in Aurora were most valuable to all of us. It gave each of us an insight as to the society we were about to enter. None of the six of us that were going to Antigua had ever been in the West Indies before, and therefore had no idea whatsoever as to what to expect. It was an entirely different situation to that of the typical tourist. We were to work with the people as members of their society.

One of our main objectives was the exchange of ideas and cultures, which wasn't all that difficult once we were accepted into their communities. On reaching Antigua our group broke into two sections. It took our section exactly five minutes to realize that we shouldn't wear sun glasses and shorts even if the sun was blazing overhead and it was 95 degrees.

A panoramic view of the Antiguan countryside.

After the first day of Antigua orientation, we set to work repainting the shutters of the church, encouraging the local people to join us. Young children were the most ambitious and soon were painting the stone work of the church as well. Very few of these people had ever worked with their hands as free labour because they felt that this was most degrading to their character and social standing. Young people sixteen to eighteen were soon skipping school to help us. This we discouraged and soon put a stop to it.

One of the more rewarding aspects of the summer in the form of physical achievement was the erection of a sturdy wire mesh fence that will offer protection for the All Saints Rectory.

The people of All Saints Village, where we were for four weeks were an entirely different type of people in their outlook than the people in another village that was five miles away. The day camp that we ran for five days in All Saints was a unique experience. It was the attitude of the children and their total lack of imagination that struck me as outstanding. Children of ten years old could not visualize a scene and when presented with crayons and paper they were totally perplexed. They had no experience whatsoever with any creative supplies.

as their economy cannot support as wide an education as we North Americans are used to.

The second day camp that we ran was most rewarding. I had learned from my previous experience that these children were not at all slow but rather just had had no opportunity to develop their imaginations and talents. We were in Willikies Village for the last two weeks of our stay, of which we devoted one week to the day camp.

The first day I took my group of fourteen children out on a short hike and asked them to look at and describe to me a local landmark which they had been looking at for their entire lives. By the end of the week they were looking at all sorts of things and trying to get the "picture in my mind" so that it could be sketched on paper. In one week they had developed a sense of awareness of things around them. They were no longer totally interested in "their own little world" alone but were interested in "the sugar mill over there on the hill" or "the chair on the beach under the palm tree."

One thing I learned; for any person raised on the island who has not been to the more "affluent" parts of the world, there is no such thing as working or moving quickly. Everything is taken at a nice, slow, even pace. "The other day" can mean any time in the last year or two, "Tomorrow" can mean sometime in the next week, and an appointment at 2:30 p.m. will result in an appearance around 3:30 or 4:00. Life is peaceful, calm and unexcited.

After arriving in Antigua I quickly learned to slow down to their pace. The heat can be murderous to our standard of work pace and these people know this. We were there to work with the people, not for them, or to show them how things are done back home.

The summer was a most valuable experience in human relations. I soon became accustomed to being called "white man" by the small children running through the streets, and to the unusual (at least to me) title of "teacher" from those who were a little older. I learned that the values that we attach to life are not necessarily the best.

Perhaps the most important thing to me was the answering of a question that I had been asking myself. With all the colour orientated problems of the United States, I was asking myself, if I really thought of Negroes as equals. I was in the definite minority, in Antigua, and was at first considered a white person who could very possibly be just the same as a tourist. To me the inhabitants appeared black for a short while but soon they were fellow humans who I accepted on personal value, just as they accepted me on what they saw in me rather than in my colour.

Soccer '69

It is said that a good team is one which is always improving. This feeling is certainly applicable to the First team soccer as I look back on our season.

We started our season by losing to Nichols School in Buffalo. After this game, the coach and the old colours were afraid, I think, that we were off to another season like that of the previous year which was "all individual talent, but no team". Such was not the case, for within a week we just managed to take our first Independent Schools game against Saint Andrew's. One week later we proved to ourselves that controlling the ball for the entire game without scoring was not going to make a successful season. The result of this experiment was a loss to TCS of 1-0.

Mr. Wilson's words, "to stay alive this team can't lose any more games", were not taken lightly. After some jockeying around of the players and the addition of Robinson to the team, we were destined to make up for lost time. We went on to win our next four games, defeating Upper Canada College for the first time in two years. We then drew to a zero-zero tie with UCC two weeks later on the Ridley field. But the champion of this league (BRC, TCS, SAC, UCC, Pickering and Hillfield) will never be known, as the Ridley game at SAC was not played because of snow. However, both Ridley and UCC finished the season with one loss.

This year's soccer team experienced two steps in the right direction. The first of these was attending the All Ontario Invitational Soccer Tournament in Newmarket. It was a beneficial day, not only because of the game time which we had, but also because of the chance to see some of the best soccer played at a high-school level.

The second and even greater experience of the year was the support which the team received from the School. May I say sincerely that I hope this support will continue for all teams in the future.

The Video-Tape Recorders

Last year the School purchased a new type of audio-visual equipment — Video-Tape Recorders, which will record a television programme with both sound and picture.

The general purpose of the equipment is to record television programmes of an educational nature for later showing to students. Currently, on several Canadian channels, morning programming is almost exclusively devoted to the broadcasting of educational TV programmes of excellent quality. However, the difficulty in organizing and switching around classes to correspond with a TV programme in a certain subject presents a nearly insurmountable problem. On the other hand, the recording of a programme for later viewing by as many as four classes is extremely easy.

Most of the recording work is done and organized by several students, under the supervision of Mr. David Mackey. Each week the programmes for recording and playback are scheduled and then recorded by the students. At present the equipment is in use for about ten hours each week.

Both Upper and Lower School masters are employing these machines as teaching aids and it is generally agreed that they are a definite educational advantage.

As well as being used for the recording of educational material, the equipment is also being used in other fields around Ridley. This fall, the equipment along with its closed-circuit TV camera recorded several Upper School football games for later viewing by the team. Lower School is currently engaged in a fair amount of classroom work with the camera.

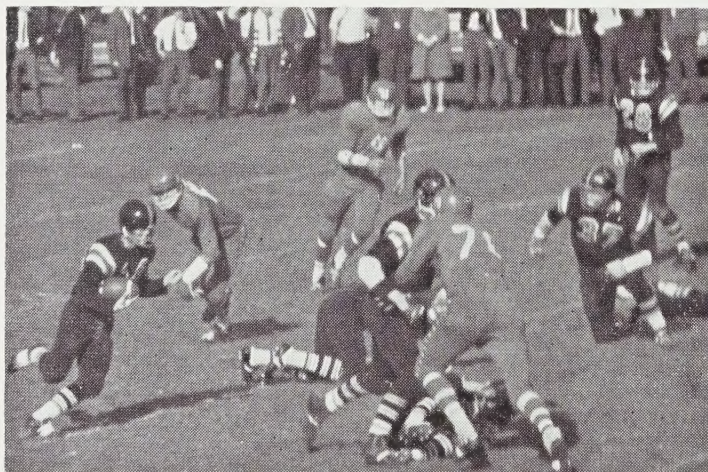

The future? — ideas abound for increasing our equipment, along with the suggestion that we actually produce some ETV programmes for entry into local competition. At present we are only beginning to explore the potential of this exciting medium, but the possibilities for use of the equipment are nearly endless, and certainly with the general interest in the school regarding its use, the future does look bright indeed!

First Team Football

Looking back, it was a very sound year for Ridley's First team football.

On September 19th Ridley opened its season in Buffalo in the right spirit by defeating Nichols by a substantial margin, 25-6. In the other pre-season game (with Sir Winston Churchill

First team Football action against S.A.C. McFarlane carries the ball.

High School), we were not so fortunate in the outcome, but the consensus was we had played a very solid, well-fought game.

Friday, October 10th saw the First team meet St. Andrew's in the first league game of the season. Our offensive team clicked very well, and we had no trouble breaking the game open, outscoring SAC 48-27. If we had any doubts about our not being a strong football team, they were now dissolved.

Appleby was a repeat performance; this time Ridley managed to outscore the opponents by an even greater margin. Before a large crowd of Old Boys, Ridley whipped the Oakville boys 48-7. We were now ready to lick anything in our proverbial path.

Unfortunately, Ridley met its match at TCS. We physically destroyed TCS in a tough, hard-hitting game, yet we could not contain their two superb running backs. The result was a 20-1 decision in favour of TCS. In spite of lost aspirations for the Independent Schools crown, the Ridley team, to its credit, refused to 'quit the game'.

The next week in Toronto our Firsts turned in one of their best games of the season on a treacherous, mud-drenched playing field. In the closing minutes of the game UCC toppled Ridley by a slim margin 26-22. It was a 'tear-jerker' for Ridley and its fans, for the victory seemed to be snatched from our deserving grasp.

It is comforting to think that next year's team, based on returning talent, looks unusually strong. Good luck to Ridley '70. Hopefully coaches Stanley and Armstrong will bring back that championship to Ridley once again.

Old Boys' Week-End

A very successful Week-End was held on the 18th and 19th of October. Although the number registering was not a record, there was an excellent turnout and all returning Old Boys appeared to have enjoyed their visit to the School.

From an athletic standpoint Saturday was a success as the Football team defeated Appleby 48 to 7. Close to 200 Old Boys and their wives or lady friends met at the pre-game luncheon in the gym and again became imbued with the Ridley spirit.

Following the game a growing number of younger Old Boys attended the Tea Dance and I am sure the music could have been heard on the other side of the canal.

The three reunions that were held, 1939 — their 30th, 1944 — their 25th and 1959 — their 10th, were all well represented. Their Class Secretaries, Jim Scandrett, Peter Gooderham and Bob Seagram are to be commended for their efforts. Particularly Peter Gooderham. The Class of '44 had twenty-three members plus wives for a total of 43 at their pre-week-end party at the Kennedy Arms on Friday night. As far as we know, this is a record for our reunions so far. The Rev'd. Chris Tubbs made it all the way from Yorkshire.

At the Saturday dinner 310 sat down and they received an excellent dinner. A presentation scroll was presented to Adam Griffith (35) as a small token of thanks to him for the 30 years he spent on the staff at Ridley and also for his many contributions to the Association; never forgetting the tremendous amount of time he spent on research for our history — Ridley, The Story of a School. In addition our gratitude was expressed publicly to the directors of the Ridley College Scholarship Fund, Inc. (the American portion of the Foundation Fund) for their tremendous efforts on behalf of the School.

The Old Boy travelling the farthest distance to the Week-End was John Dryden (47) from New Zealand. He was followed by Chris Tubbs (44) from England and Stig-Ove Hansen and his wife Marja-Liisa from Mexico City.

Sunday witnessed a packed house at morning Chapel service during which Bob Schmon (VIA) spoke on his Summer with the Grenfell Mission in Labrador which proved most interesting to all who were present. The same went for the Sherry and Beer party at the home of John and Cose Guest. Those eager for more crowded into the Memorial Hall for a delightful buffet luncheon.

Late afternoon saw all who had returned on their way home after a Week-End that will be long remembered. Even the gentle rain that came on held off until virtually everyone had left.

We enjoy having you return to see us. Continue to do so. And for those of you who have not been back to Ridley for a number of years how about making a date with us for next year.

Loot

Strangely enough, out of the blue, Joe Orton's merciless indictment of the English system of justice "Loot", made its debut at the Ridley College Theatre (Gymnasium). I heartily commend the Ridley College Dramatic Society on a superb dramatic portrayal of "Loot". From a script making few technical demands on the actors they produced what the audience received as a hilarious and overwhelming comedy.

The play itself, written in 1966, epitomizes the kind of comic-book humour so highly rated some generations back. I allude to the somewhat monotonous puns and slightly forced jokes which abound in the script and which could be so disastrous, in a lesser production. Amid choruses of genuine, good ol' time laughter, there are to be found satirical innuendoes indicating Orton's feelings toward certain aspects of justice, the Roman Catholic Church, and a rather barbarian attitude (and very questionable respect) held for the dead. Not subtle, not overly profound, but nonetheless there.

It was skilful directing and superb acting on the part of all the players involved that made "Loot" the success it was. Special mention should be made of the beautifully controlled and highly effective acting of Richard Lawrence in the role of Fay, the nurse, the one female part in the play. The mood created, the timing and presence of the players were nothing short of most effective in provoking the laughter that erupted.

Interesting that the Dramatic Society did not choose some other 'piece de theatre plus litteraire' which I am certain they could do effectively. But would such a work be as well received?

J. G. Coles (VIA)

A Note from the Director of "Loot"

The school play this year, Joe Orton's savage black comedy, "Loot", although well received by the School, did not meet with universal approval on the part of the adults present. This is not surprising, for the play is a very strong statement, made in comic terms, of a number of themes not generally felt to be material for comedy. But we need scarcely be reminded that Shakespeare himself set us a pattern for 'black comedy' in "Hamlet" where the gravediggers' scene has all the aspects of a very macabre study indeed of death.

As director of the Ridley College Dramatic Society I have the privilege and responsibility of choosing suitable plays for performance before the School and interested friends of the School. I have attempted in the past few years to give a wide variety of plays to the School; for example, last year's production of Max Frisch's play, "The Fire Raisers", was an example of contemporary European theatre with its emphasis on aspects of theatre of the absurd and underlying political implications. The year before the Dramatic Society presented the American classic, "Death of a Salesman"; this was preceded by a stock whodunit of the thirties, "The Locked Door". Next year will probably see another type of play again, for I feel a strong obligation to present a wide spectrum of genres in the theatre so that the boys are made aware of the extensive and exciting scope within theatre.

The choice of a play for presentation at Ridley is not easy; with the boys doing the female roles (and it is increasingly difficult with the growing sophistication of contemporary teenagers to attract them to the female parts) a large number of plays is automatically eliminated; and the problem of multiple sets adds to the difficulty as well. I had started earlier in the season on a production of Durrenmatt's "The Physicists", but abandoned it because of casting difficulties and the nagging doubt of the wisdom of presenting again this year a European play so close in style and theme to last year's effort.

With the advent of The Living Theatre and an extension of the techniques of such people as Artaud and Brecht, the old patterns of theatrical presentation, both in theme and production, are no longer viable. The media explosion has made exciting possibilities for the theatre and at Ridley we must attempt to move away from the comfortable, box-set, amateur theatricals concept towards an understanding of and experimenting in new modes of theatre.

Lower School Notes

It is with deep personal sorrow that the writer pens this issue of the Lower School notes. The tragic deaths of Ed and Connie Burn in an automobile accident on October 22 have resulted in an inestimable loss to Ridley College. Both contributed greatly to the School; both will be greatly missed and never be replaced. They will always be remembered, and we express our sincere sympathy to Peter and Trish.

We must, however, pass on to recording the highlights of a hectic and busy term. 77 new boys joined the 84 old ones. After the first days of shyness, curiosity and unfamiliarity, the new boys quickly got into the groove, and entered wholeheartedly into the School programme. Joining the new boys was Purvis D. McDougall, an Old Boy (54), who is teaching French and English. He brought with him his bride, Martha. Both have adjusted well and are involved in all the aspects of the School. David Cosgrove brought a new wife, the School nurse, Connie Cosgrove (nee Weicker). Unfortunately, Connie has been unwell, but Martha McDougall has been looking after the dispensing of pills, advice and sympathy.

Mr. Ian Barber and Mr. Peter Orme are also helping in the Lower School with Music and Choir. Carl Dorland has been teaching Health to the eighth and ninth forms this year and has been helping out with Geography. Jack Wilson, similarly, has been taking some of the Geography. Their assistance has been greatly appreciated.

The Lower School enjoyed a successful season on the playing field. McKague and his football team lost but one game under the direction of one of the more promising quarterbacks to be seen in the Lower School for some years, Reifel. The Seconds and Thirds also provided excitement for the numerous parents who faithfully followed their sons' progress.

Similarly, the soccer teams had their share of victories. Ehrenberg led his side to a good season and all the teams down to the Fifties certainly enjoyed themselves.

Rain held off long enough for the 145 Cross Country runners to cross the finish line. Bratt won easily in a time of 10:13 and he was followed by Irwin and Patterson I.

At the present time, the boxers are battling it out for places on what appears to be an excellent final card.

Parents' Day was held this year during the Michaelmas Term. This certainly appears to be a better time to hold it if the number of staff interviews is any criterion. Parents were able to see their progeny in the classroom, involved in one demonstration or another and during the sports period.

Extra-curricular work has been continuing. Trips have been taken to plays, movies, and St. Marie-among the Hurons. Mr. Dawson's Radio Club is in full swing; Mr. MacGregor has revitalized debating and Mr. Cosgrove with Burnes' help (?) is keeping the Photography Room busy, albeit messy.

Scholarship Examinations

Very few Ridleians are winners of university entrance scholarships; there should be great concern that this situation continues to exist. But this situation will not improve unless the School is able to attract really first-class students in the lower grades. The best means for attracting such students to the School lies in the granting of entrance scholarships to Ridley to deserving boys. Have you a son who is a bright, prospective candidate for an entrance scholarship, or do friends or business associates have such sons? Please spread the word so that an intelligent, academically-oriented group of candidates will have a chance to win entrance scholarships.

The scholarship examinations, in English and Mathematics, are being written this year on Friday, February 27th. Candidates who will enter Grades 7, 8, 9 or 10 next Fall are eligible to compete. Please contact the Headmaster for full details and an entry form. Boys who cannot come to the School on that day may write the examinations under proper supervision at other centres.

It is disappointing each year that so few new boys try the examinations. The financial support available through these scholarships is considerable, and every Old Boy and Parent concerned with the continuing academic strength of Ridley should make sure that potential winners of entrance scholarships be encouraged to write the examinations.

Board of Governors Meet

The Annual Meeting of the Board of Governors was held at the School on Tuesday, 25 November. This year the dinner and meeting were held in the Lower School dining room following a short reception in the home of John and Cose Guest.

B. B. Osler (22) retired as President and Chairman of the Board following three dedicated and fruitful years in office. His interest in the School and the time he spent on behalf of Ridley were recognized by a unanimous vote of thanks tendered by the Governors.

George H. Belton (27) of London, Harry E. Foster (26) of Toronto, Hazen Hansard (22) of Montreal, Richard M. Ivey (43) of London and Thomas E. Jarvis (37) of Toronto retired from the Board; all after many years of service to Ridley. Each has agreed to serve as a member of the Advisory Council.

The Executive for the ensuing year is:

President — James E. McConnell (31)

Vice Presidents — Hugh A. Rapsey (27)

H. T. Mandeville (40)

Peter MacLachlan (42)

S. M. Irwin (46)

Elected to the Board of Governors for the first time to replace members who have retired are:

Dr. Fred R. Burton, current Parent, Consulting Engineer of Toronto, Ont.

Benjamin B. Cronyn (42), President Ridley College Association, Vice President, Johnson & Higgins, Willis, Faber Ltd., of Toronto, Ont.

C. Clark Hopper, current Parent, former Business Administrator of the School (1966-69), Chief Executive Officer, Canadian Envelope Co. Ltd., of Montreal, Que.

Thomas H. Orr (33), current Parent of London, Ont.

William O. Randall (42), current Parent, President of Neptune Meters Ltd., of Toronto, Ont.

H. T. Crozier Taylor (40), Past President Ridley College Old Boys' Association, Vice President and Director of Agencies of Commercial Life Assurance Co. of Canada of Toronto, Ont.

In accordance with a recent amendment to the By-Laws of the School, half of the vacancies on the Board were filled by nominees of the Executive Committee of the Ridley College Association.

The Origin of Species

Ridley's oldest living Old Boy, Billy Wadsworth (1890-93) was present at the last Annual Meeting of the Ridley College Old Boys' Association, which was held on 29 September, 1969, in Toronto. He is one of the founders of the R.C.O.B.A. As indicated elsewhere in this issue, at the meeting in question the transition was made to The Ridley College Association. In reference to the meeting, Mr. Wadsworth wrote as follows:

"By the way, the 4 Old Boys' present at the first formal meeting (about 72 years ago) had already set a precedent for the present innovation, by making the Reverend Harry Cody an 'Old Boy'. This was lucky — as he was the only one present who could produce the annual fee of $1.00. I took this down to the Main Office Branch of the Imperial Bank next morning and opened up an account there in the name of the Association — and that $1.00 was the seed that has developed now into a pretty robust tree."

The "present innovation" referred to above is the clause in the new constitution that makes "Friends of Ridley" members of The Association. The Reverend Harry Cody, later the Reverend and Honourable Doctor Cody, was a member of the first teaching-staff of Ridley.

Harriers

The 1969 Harriers season began with only a few of the familiar faces of past years returning. These veterans were joined by recruits from soccer and football and some new boys to the Upper School.

Unfortunately, this year Ridley was not readmitted as a member of the Southern Ontario Secondary Schools Association (SOSSA); therefore, the Harriers team as a whole had less to work for. This lack of a goal for the team caused a dismaying regression in the spirit of the team from that of previous years.

The meets the team took part in throughout the season were a tremendous success and brought into the open the talents of many boys on the team. Two should be especially commended for their skill and endurance throughout the season, Cooper and McClelland II.

This year, as in past years, colours were awarded primarily on attitude, secondly on effort and thirdly on the ability of the individual. Team crests were awarded to the other members of the team who had run competitively against other schools.

Again thanks should be extended to Mr. Silver for his unselfish coaching and devotion to the Harriers team. Now in its third year as a little R sport, the Harriers team is improving the calibre of Ridley running.

Mr. Arthur B. B. Harrison (14) and his charming wife, Joan, paid the School a visit in late September and during their stay were shown the plaque in the new classroom wing which pays tribute to one of Ridley's major benefactors, his late brother Charles A. Harrison (21).

Around the School

The winter sports programme is well under way now and the Fall term sports merely a memory. The captain of Football was Longstaff, of Soccer, Butterfield and of Harriers, McClelland I. Because of the pressure on the School's athletic facilities, during the Lent term evening team practices are held and afternoon study periods compensate for the study time lost. Skiing has been added to the long list of Lent term sports available; strenuous training and conditioning exercises are held during the week while actual skiing will be available on the week-ends.

Two theatre trips have been held this year. The first was a 6B excursion in September to see "Hamlet", the play being studied by that form, at Stratford. Then in November a combined 5A - 6BI group saw Edward Albee's "Tiny Alice" at the Studio Arena Theatre in Buffalo.

Bermuda Cup competition for the house championship in a number of athletic endeavours is arousing tremendous interest throughout the school and School House, winner for several years in a row, is being seriously challenged by all the other houses.

The Headmaster attended meetings in November of the Ontario Association for Curriculum Development in Ottawa and the Canadian Headmasters' Association at the Rothesay Collegiate School. In January he will attend the Ontario Secondary Schools Headmasters Conference in Toronto and in March the annual meeting of the National Association of Independent Schools in Washington.

Art is being offered in the Upper School as an academic subject for the first time this year. Mrs. Boa is conducting a class of fifth formers whose work is being shown from time to time in a new display area in the corridor leading to the Assembly Hall.

A new club has been started at the School — for ham radio enthusiasts. Roach is the boy responsible for the organization and activities of the group.

The Michaelmas term dance was held on November 15th. A very large number of boys attended; the large attendance was helped by an efficient dating service organized by some senior boys and by the Mendelsohn Mainline band which provide the music.

The Beaver Food Service continues to provide the food services for the School, but has a new resident manager this year — Mr. Peter Tate.

For the first time, the Independent Schools Squash and Swimming meets will be held at the same location. On March 14th both events will be held at the Downsview Campus of York University.

The school prefects are Burton ma, Butterfield, Drake, Hopper, MacLaren, McClelland I, Moulden, Perkins, Pilgrim, Schmon and Tooton ma.

Dr. Jim Turpin of Project Concern, a medical programme for the victims of the Vietnam conflict, addressed the boys of the School again this year in chapel. The boys, in response to an earlier address in chapel, organized the collection of a large amount of good used clothing for the Unitarian Service Relief.

Music at the School

The highly successful carol services, held on the last Sunday of term, were the first major accomplishment of Ridley's new music master, Mr. Peter Orme. Arriving at the School in late October, Mr. Orme has accomplished marvels in a very short time. With extensive experience in England — he has a Cambridge degree in Music, teaching experience at the college level and was organist at Christ Church, Lancaster Gate in London — he is placing a strong emphasis on the academic programme in Music as well as training an effective choir. Mr. Ian Barber, his associate and organist at St. Thomas', is assisting in many aspects of the musical programme and is likely to direct a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta in the Trinity Term. A new organ in the chapel (the positiv section is to be installed in the chancel during the summer) and two new and enthusiastic masters directing the Music programme in the School provide every hope for a challenging and relevant musical life at Ridley.

Helen A. Boyd

Miss Boyd served Ridley as Matron of the Upper School from 1927 to 1952. Old Boys of that era will recognize the truth of the following tribute that is paid to her in "Ridley, The Story of a School":

"Her wonderful special suppers; her patient watch over the clothing of the boys; and an endless succession of thoughtful acts over a quarter-century, all told of her devotion to Ridley.

Particularly are those words applicable to her work during the trying days of the Second Great War — when food, servants and the right clothing were often at a premium. No boy at Ridley ever suffered then unduly in these connections, thanks in large regard to Miss Boyd's efforts on their behalf.

Miss Boyd passed away on last 1 November in the Peterborough Civic Hospital after a prolonged illness. In retirement, she had lived at her family home in Bobcaygeon, Ontario. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. J. S. Allan. Her two brothers gave their lives in the First Great War.
